Hi Fred,
Good to hear from you again.
I doubt I have anything new but here is what I do have. By the way, I have always seen Gesina's name as Sabel, without the ending -haus.
Family of Jo'es Bernard Wobben (66.Ø)
Wobben-Sabel children:
Johan Gerhard Heinrich born Jul 27, 1794 (from Tenfelde) m. A Mg Theising (the book says they both died in Germantown, IL in 1845 (dates were given if you don't have them.)
Your Maria Anna born Sep 20, 1802
Bernard Heinrich born Dec 4, 1805 (from tombstone and verified in church records.)
Herman Bernard born Apr 25, 1809 (from tombstone and verified in church records) m. Margaret Wienhoff.
These last two both came over on the ship Orion from Hamburg which arrived New Orleans Dec 12, 1836 - Herman Bernhd Wobbe 27 from Lengerich with Anna Marga 29, Anna Christina 2, Anna Maria 1/4 and Bernhd Heinr Wobbe 31
Joh Gd Hch and wife A Mg Theising came over on the ship Friedrich Jacob, arrived N.O. Jan 25, 1841 - Joh Gerh Wobbe 46 from Gersten to St. Louis with A Marg 44, Bernard 8, Christine 5, Benedict 3
I think I'll go ahead and put them all on my Emslanders website (www.emslanders.com) when I next do an update and you can look them over and compare what I have with what you have. Where you'll probably be able to help me out is with information on their children.
Hopefully I'll get them posted toward the end of next week.
In the meantime, have a Happy Easter.

dear fred and wife,
i am traveling with you in my thoughts and prayers for your daughter...i lost my first husband at age 43 and thought it was the most devistating thing to ever happen to me. i cannot begin to imagine the loss of a child. i rely greatly on angelic help. perhaps your daughter will be your greatest champion for you up there as well.

i have news for you on the genealogy..i also have some stories through a few other people , if you would be interested in a copy, please email me your address and i will send them to you. there is reference to herman bernard lager traveling with some of the wobbe family aboard the ship orion to the port of new orleans.
as to your questions, yes, my mom, doris wobbe schealler is the daughter of henry wobbe and dora elizabeth luke (b. 7-7-1883 in auburn, ia. died 10-2-1965.). she has 4 other sisters of which 3 are also still living in the norwest iowa area. i reside in sioux city. (where are you?) i dont know how much detail you want.

Benedict Heinrich wobbe buried in germantown, IL. @ st. boniface church. born in friedan germany or lengerich, hanover germany...conflicting reports on that. Dorothea Tennyson..born in Grusea Holland are the only other notes i have, except that my mom told me that dorothea was a twin and the other twin was named anna Fink who eventually lived in St. Louis, MO. and that they were orphaned young in life. dorothea died in her home in clyde 6-11-1935 at age 87 after a long illness. Benedict fell off a ladder and broke his neck and died 8-24-1915 while living in Conception ,MO.Also that John went blind and lived at st. joseph hospital in Breese, IL.

JOSEPH CLINTON CRIDER SENIOR

"Big Joe"
Ancestor of the Crider Families along Dry Fork Creek and Elsewhere

JOSEPH CLINTON CRIDER SR., traditionally known as "Big Joe", was the second child of Daniel and Barbara (Walter) Crider and was born in Cabarrus County, North Carolina, on 3 November 1801, according to a Bible record. He was a young man of sixteen, or seventeen years of age, when his father's family moved from their North Carolina home and eventually settled in what is now northern Gasconade County, Missouri.

Probably it is due to the fact that he was some two years younger than his older brother James, that his name does not appear as frequently in the early records of the Territory and Gasconade County. However, he would have been one of the four Criders that was registered as a qualified voter on the Gasconade County voting list that was prepared in 1828. He was also named as the second child of his father Daniel in his father's will that was proven in Gasconade County, Missouri in 1842. Instead of receiving land, as did his older brother James, Joseph received a cash bequest.

There is no ready explanation as to how his acquaintance with Priscilla Reed came about. She lived with her parents some fifty or sixty miles to the east in Franklin County. However, there is every probability that as a wagoner and frequent traveller between his home and St. Louis, he somehow made the acquaintance of the Reed family that lived about thirty miles west of St. Louis, at Pacific, Missouri. The county records of Franklin County, at Union, Missouri, show that he was married to Priscilla Reed there on 14 September 1826. This was the first marriage of a member of the Crider family in Franklin County and the only one until the marriage of Blain Crider, great grandson of James Crider, who was married there in 1904, seventy-eight years afterward.

After their marriage, Joseph and Priscilla Crider first settled in Third Creek Township of Gasconade County. They were shown there and living somewhere along Crider Creek when the first census of Gasconade County was taken in 1830. They were then the parents of two sons, both of whom were under five years of age. These have been identified as Basil, who was born in January of 1828, and Daniel, who was born in April of 1830. They may have had other children born in that area, but it appears that the remainder of their family was born after the family relocated to the south, on the Dry Fork of the Bourbeuse River that traverses southern Gasconade County.

Again, we rely on speculation as to the reason and cause for the family moving to the south on the Dry Fork. In 1826, Joseph's younger brother Daniel, had married a daughter of one of the Reed families that had settled in that area at a very early date. His brother Daniel had established himself in that neighborhood, where he became widely acclaimed as a blacksmith at the village of Cleavesville. Then, too, there still remained a vast amount of public land, some in the fertile valley of the Dry Fork Creek, that could be purchased from the Government for the reasonable sum of $1.25 per acre. By 1830, or soon thereafter, most of the bottom lands along Crider Creek had been preempted by settlers who had arrived and located along the stream to its headwaters.

This copy shows Joseph Crider, Sr. born in North Carolina at age forty-six with his second wife Margaret. John, Hiram and Drusilla are by Joseph's first marriage. Sally is Margaret's child by her former marriage to Edward Durbin. Malinda, mary and Peggy (Margaret) are children of Joseph's second marriage.

Public land records, contained in the National Archives of the U.S. Government at Washington, D. C., show that Joseph and Priscilla Crider, made application and payment for an eighty acre tract, described as E. 1/2 of the N.W. Qr.. of Sec. 29, Twsp. 41, R. 6 W. This land purchase transaction was recorded on land certificate number 2971; its date being given as 21 December 1831. This land was located on the north side of the Dry Fork Creek and was bound on the north by a smaller stream that was called "Greedy Creek", because of its traits of sudden rises and quick overflow following a heavy rain. The tract of land purchased by Joseph Crider then had some of the characteristics of an island as it was bordered by waterways on two ends. Somewhere along the way the tract came to be known as the Island Field and is so known to the present day.

We can only assume that Joseph and Priscilla built a cabin type dwelling somewhere along the Dry Fork Creek, where water was to be had throughout the year. In our research, we have had reports from narrators who were familiar with the area, that there was an old building location along the Dry Fork - with some building stones still being in place. It is evident that they lived there until about 1838, when her parents, John and Drusilla Reed, purchased a forty acre tract of land that adjoined the Island Field on the north and built a cabin there. The date of the Reed land purchase was 21 September 1838 and this seems to be the approximate time that John Reed and his wife relocated from Franklin County to the land in Gasconade County that was to become their home for the remainder of their lives.

According to information, the spacious plantation type house that John Reed built, apparently with the help of his son-in-law, Joseph Crider, was first occupied about 1838. Priscilla Crider was their only child, so it seems that Reed and Crider formed some type of an alliance that resulted in the building of a house that would accommodate both families. The house was built on higher ground that was safe from all flooding by either Dry Fork, or Greedy Creek. That they all lived there together is strict family tradition, but the tenure of Joseph and his wife there would have been a short one, due to her death that came on 8 January 1841, according to a Bible record. Of their eight children, two were born on Crider Creek, five were born somewhere along the Dry Fork, while Joseph the youngest, was by tradition born in the house on the Reed homestead, on 25 December 1838.

Though John later acquired other tracts that adjoined the original land that is described as the S.E. Qr. of the S.W. Qr. of Sec. 10, Twsp. 41, R 6 W. that tract came to be known as the Crider homestead due to the life-long occupancy of the house and land by the Reed's youngest grandson Joseph Crider and succeeding generations descended from him. The property is now held by a grand-daughter of Joseph Jr. and her husband, who in recent years razed the old house after building a new home nearby.

The exact year that John Reed and his family arrived in Missouri is unknown to us. It is thought that they arrived at a very early date, but had lived for a time in Ohio after they left Kentucky. Their daughter Priscilla was born on 2 September 1809, according to a Bible record. The census taken of the families of some of her children in 1880, states that she was born in Kentucky.

There is a record of a land transaction in Franklin County, Missouri that shows John Reed as buying land in the vicinity of Pacific, on 12 May 1826. This is an indication that he may have arrived about that time, or perhaps a little earlier. The land was located in Sec. 11, Twsp. 43 and R. 2 E. This appears to have been their homesite when Priscilla married Joseph Crider in September of that year.

There were however, some of the Reed family living in Franklin County as early as 1811. Records of early day Gasconade County mentions Henry Reed as one of the county's earliest settlers. Leonard Reed was there at an early date and two Reeds appear on the voting list of 1828. The relationship of John to the others is unknown to us. However, there is a strong indication that all were closely related.

John Reed had brought a hand-made "Kentucky Rifle" to Missouri with him. According to family information he used this weapon in the Mormon disturbances of the 1830's, probably in the capacity of a militiaman. The rifle, now the prized possession of one of his descendants, is supported by a leather shot-pouch to which is attached a powder horn. The horn bears the date of 1824 and according to tradition, was made by Reed as for a gift to be presented to Marquis De Lafayette when the General visited St. Louis in April of 1825. When the bearer of the powder horn arrived in St. Louis, Lafayette had already departed so the gift was returned to the donor and has since become an heirloom. Along with the rifle, the powder horn has been passed down to the present generation.

In March of 1829, when Joseph Crider's half brother, Peter Walter purchased the Pay Down Mill site (now in Maries County) from Charles Lane, the transaction was witnessed by John Reed and James Caldwell. This indicates his presence in G[illegible]conade County by that time.

Of John Reed's wife Drusilla, we are only able to rely on such records that are available of the Durbin families in Kentucky for the identity of her ancestry. We find the record of a Drusilla Durbin, whose date of birth is not given, as being the daughter of John Durbin. However, there is no accurate information regarding her marriage. So again it becomes necessary to speculate.

Both the Reeds and Durbins were numerous in early day Kentucky, making positive identification of the immediate family of either extremely difficult. Records of early day land grants in Kentucky show that John Durbin acquired 96 acres of land in Barren County, on 19 October 1807. It was in this same County that Drusilla and John Reed were married the following month. From this we can conclude that she was a daughter of John Durbin.

A certified copy of their marriage certificate shows that John Reed was a minor at the time of their marriage and that consent for his marriage was given by Leon Reed. It is not known whether Leon (Leonard) was John's father, or older brother. In the census of Gasconade County of 1840, we find living in the Cleavesville neighborhood, a Leonard Reed, then aged 50 to 60 years. As John would have been fifty-one years of age in 1840, it would seem fair to assume that they were brothers and that this was the same Leon, or Leonard, who had signed the consent for John in 1807. If not, both were sons of Leonard Reed, whose will of 1808 is recorded in Woodford County, Kentucky. There was a Leonard Reed Jr. on the 1800 tax list of Barren County, indicating that his father's name was also Leonard.

But by 1830, or soon after, both John and Leonard Reed had arrived on the Dry Fork in Gasconade County and had set about the business of building homes and purchasing land. There is no way to accurately describe the impact that was made on the area by their coming. While John had no sons of his own, he did much to help the sons of his daughter and Joseph Crider to establish themselves. The name of John Reed will be perpetuated for many years.

Joseph Crider also acquired other tracts of land in the area. On 29 May 1838, he purchased from the Federal land office a tract of forty acres located a half mile west of the north end of the Island Field tract and is described as the N. E. Qr. of the N. E. Qr. of Sec. 30, Twsp. 41, R. 6 W. This land was patented on 10 December 1841, showing that he had made certain improvements and was probably living on it. Two days later, on 12 December 1841, he was married to Margaret Durbin, widow of Edward Durbin, who had died earlier. Margaret, whose maiden name was Hendrix, was born in Kentucky in 1812. Margaret's brother, Samuel Hendrix had two children that married children of Joseph Crider. By her marriage to Edward Durbin (son of Phillip and Lucy (Logsdon) Durbin), she was the mother of at least five children: Christopher "Kit", Xavier Conrad "Coonrod", Julia Shockley, Sarah, and Mary "Polly" Durbin Decker.

By 1850 when the census was taken, these Durbin children, all of whom appear to have been born in the 1830's, were grown and away from their parents. The family was still living on the Dry Fork and was shown with some of the children of his first marriage, also with three children who had been born to Joseph and Margaret: Malinda, Mary Jane, and Margaret.

Joseph Crider acquired another forty acre tract of land that adjoined the land on which he was living. It is described as forty acres in Sec. 30 (S.W. Qr. of the N.E. Qr.). This tract and the one on which he was living, along with the original 80 acre Island Field tract, gave him a total of 160 acres of highly productive and valuable land - all in the Dry Fork valley.

Just what prompted him to begin disposing of some of his land as early as 1850 is not clear. On the 23rd of March of 1850, he sold the forty acre tract where they were living to his oldest son Basil who married in October of that year. Basil made his home there for almost thirty years. In 1852, he sold the adjoining forty acre tract to James T. Stamp. It would seem that Joseph and Margaret then moved back to the Island Field tract where they lived until 1856.

On 28 March 1856, he sold the Island Field tract to John Reed, father of his first wife Priscilla, for $500. The Reeds had no other children, so after the death of Priscilla it was obvious that the heirship of all their personal and real property was vested in the children of their daughter. They set about the task of devising their property to these children as early as the Summer of 1857. Reed had acquired two additional tracts, one consisting of 80 acres that adjoined his homestead on the east side with forty acres in Sec. 20 and forty acres in Sec. 29. By means of a deed dated 3 July 1857, John Reed and his wife conveyed this tract to their grandson, Hiram Crider, who never married and left no heirs when he died at Vicksburg, Mississippi during the Civil War. Hiram's seven brothers and sisters along with his father, became legal heirs and they disposed of this land in Septem 1866 when his younger brother Joseph C. Crider purchased the shares in the estate from the other heirs. The purchase price was $5O for each share, or $400, for the entire estate. Joseph Crider Jr., later conveyed this tract to his son Peter W. Crider, whose heirs still retain title.'

Another 80 acre tract that adjoined the Reed homestead on the immediate west, also in section 20, was acquired from the U.S. Government, under a special act of Congress that permitted landowners to purchase tracts that adjoined their improved land for 12 1/2 cents per acre. Having so acquired this land in January 1856, the Reeds devised this land to their grandson David Crider, who was married in October of that year. He held this tract during the greater portion of his life, but disposed of it before he died in 1907. A famous landmark, the Crider Cemetery, is located on this tract and title to the cemetery property is now held by a committee, all of whom are descendants of the Reeds, their intent being to preserve and improve the cemetery as well as the access road to the property.

According to family tradition, when the first wife of Joseph Crider Sr. died in January of 1841, their youngest child Joseph C. Crider Jr., was a small child of about two years of age. He was taken and cared for by John Reed and his wife Drusilla - as seemingly were others of the Crider children. However, Joseph Jr. remained with them during his growing years. As did others of the Crider children, he also received a portion of their estate. In a land transaction dated in August 1857, John Reed and his wife conveyed to Joseph Crider Jr., the 80 acre tract that Reed had acquired from Joseph Crider Sr. during the previous year - the tract known as the Island Field. In addition to this, probably for reasons of "love and affection" and other contributing circumstances, Reed and his wife gave their youngest grandson their original homestead tract of forty acres. It is reasonable to assume that there was an agreement; that in return he would maintain a home for the Reeds and care for them in their old age. After his marriage in 1859, Joseph Crider Jr. and his wife established their home there with the Reeds and all lived in the household together until the deaths of the Reeds that came in the mid 1860's. During these years and until the Emancipation Proclamation by President Lincoln, in September 1862, the Reed-Crider household availed themselves of the services of the slaves that Reed seemingly had brought along to Gasconade County when he first settled there. The slave family consisted of five negroes who have been named as follows: Ben and Mott Reed - the father and mother; June, Jack and Tine - their children.

The plantation type house that John Reed and Joseph Crider had built was planned and designed to employ the use of servants. A separate kitchen, long since known as the "slave kitchen", was erected and adjoined a long porch-way that skirted the front of the main structure. In addition, separate slave quarters were erected a short distance from the family dwelling. Even though Reed and Joseph Crider Sr. seem to have depended heavily on the labors of these slaves during the 1840's and 1850's, there is every reason to believe that Reed was a kind master and treated his servants with respect. When they were emancipated by executive order in 1862, he outfitted them with the necessary equipment for travelling and earning their own livelihood. This equipment consisted of a wagon and team of horses as well as necessary household items. According to tradition he also gave them an amount of money deemed necessary for their immediate needs until they could find employment. For the duration of the Civil War, this black family is said to have resided near the town of Vichy, in Maries County and near the site of the present Airport. Following the War, Joseph Crider Jr., who was then attempting to expand his farming operations, bargained for the black family to return and work on the farm for him on a "hired basis". After a short trial, it was found to be an unsatisfactory arrangement, and they again took leave, later settling in the vicinity of Washington, Missouri in Franklin County.

Before his death that came on 19 December 1865, John Reed had either by means of money, or real estate, effected a settlement of his estate with all of the heirs of his deceased daughter Priscilla Crider. It is said that at the time of his death during the days immediately following the Civil War, not enough men were in the immediate vicinity to prepare the body and grave for burial. This was accomplished by the wife of his grandson, Joseph, with the help of a younger brother of the latter, John Hendrix, and some women in the area. Reed was born in Kentucky on 16 September 1789. His wife, Drusilla (Durbin) Reed, to whom he was married in Barren County, Kentucky, on 30 November 1807, was born on 14 February 1782. She died at the old homestead on 2 September 1861. Both are buried in the Crider Cemetery and on land of which they were the original private owners.

Meanwhile, after disposing of their lands along Dry Fork Creek, Joseph and Margaret Crider, moved to the north of the present site of Bland, where they resided in Third Creek Township until about 1870. Even though their residence in this area lasted about fourteen years, no record has been found that indicates land ownership there - although it is quite possible that they did own a small tract where they maintained a home. It is safe to assume that he was somehow engaged in farming operations along Crider Creek or one of its tributaries. They were still there in 1870 when that census was taken.

Joseph Crider had spent about twenty-five years in the valley of the Dry Fork. His children by his two marriages grew to adulthood in the area, several of them spending their entire lives there. During these twenty-five years, other families who were to become closely allied to the Crider family moved into the area. One of these was Phillip Durbin and his wife Lucy, whose maiden name was Logsdon. He apparently was a cousin of Drusilla, wife of John Reed. Durbin had been born in Maryland in 1781 and was still quite young when he moved to Madison County, Kentucky with his father Christopher Durbin and family.

Phillip Durbin married Lucy Logsdon on 2 August 1800, in Madison County, Kentucky. They made their home some distance east of Lexington, Kentucky, on Drowning Creek. Sometime during the 1820's, the family moved to Sangamon County, Illinois, where they lived for a few years before moving west to Missouri. Phillip's oldest son Edward had married Margaret Hendrix, who after his death became the second wife of Joseph Crider. Phillip's oldest daughter Mary "Molly" married Samuel Hendrix, brother of Margaret. As their older children were born in Illinois, they were probably married before or about the time that the family left Kentucky.

After Phillip and his family settled near the Dry Fork, he became a shoe-maker at the village of Cleavesville. The family was of the Catholic faith, and were instrumental in the establishment of a church and cemetery in the area - on land donated by John Reed in 1841. The church, known as St. Michael's, was a log structure that stood for the remainder of the century. The cemetery, a landmark known only as "The Old Catholic Cemetery", became the burial place for many members of the Durbin and closely allied families.

Other children of Phillip and Lucy Durbin were: Phillip Jr., Malinda (who married Valentine Rogers), Peggy (who married Luccius Baxter and second Barl Rogers), Nancy (who married Daniel Barbarick), Elizabeth (who married Samuel McKinzie), Lucy (who married Hiram Reed), Christopher, Julia, and John Henry (who married Isabelle Crider, daughter of Daniel Crider Jr. and niece of Joseph Crider).

Over the years the descendants of Phillip Durbin and Joseph Crider have been closely associated through marriage. Samuel and Mary (Durbin) Hendrix had two children that married children of Joseph Crider - Phillip married Drusilla Crider, and Ann Eliza married Joseph Crider Jr.

A daughter of Edward and Margaret Durbin, Julia, married Henry Shockley, nephew of Joseph Crider. The result is that the two families are very closely allied. Going back several generations to the ancestor of Phillip and the ancestor of Drusilla Reed, we might find that they were all from the family of Samuel Durbin, early day resident of Frederick County, Maryland.

Two of the sons of Joseph Crider married daughters of Parker and Charlotte (Shockley) Atkins - Basil married Manila, while Daniel married Sarah "Sally" Atkins. The Atkins family did not live in the Cleavesville area, but were located a short distance to the west, just across the line in what is now present day Maries County.

David Crider, son of Joseph, married Barbara Shockley, daughter of Uriah and Mathilda (Barbarick) Shockley, while Mary Jane, a daughter of Joseph and his second wife Margaret, married her brother Joshua Shockley - son of Uriah. Uriah Shockley was a cousin of Thomas V. Shockley who married a sister of Joseph Crider.

John Crider, son of Joseph, married Mary Johnson, a daughter of John and Margaret (Durbin) Johnson. They were natives of Kentucky and seemingly settled in Canaan Township of Gasconade County in the mid 1830's.

Elizabeth Crider, daughter of Joseph and Priscilla Crider, married James Meredith Cotten. Little is known of his ancestry, except that he was from Illinois and that he was a widower with two children when they married. He later became the "top soldier", in the capacity of 1st Sergeant in Company I, 10th Missouri Cavalry during the Civil War. According to narrators, he was an ardent supporter of the Union Cause and was the cause of some concern to others of the family when he cautioned the Reeds because of their deep sympathy for the Southern Cause and because from time to time they were reported to have given aid to Confederate troops.

The Civil War years were times of anxiety and differences of opinion among the children of Joseph Crider - as with all other families in the nation. Basically, most of them had strong feelings for the South at the beginning -due to their environmental southern ancestry. However, their geographical location was not such that would permit much open display of their feelings. Then, too, most of them had married and had families that had to be protected from persecution which could have resulted from any outward acts of hostility on their part.

As a result, all but one of the sons of Joseph Crider, aligned themselves in some capacity for the preservation of the Union - as did three of his sons-in-law. One son-in-law, Phillip Hendrix, husband of Drusilla, threw his support to the Southern Cause and enlisted in a Confederate unit. He was taken prisoner and eventually came to his death in a military prison when he contracted pneumonia. Joseph's son Hiram died while serving in the Union Army from some disease. So here we had two of the immediate family circle, on opposing sides, who made the supreme sacrifice for the cause each felt was right.

Feelings ran deep in the various families. Ann Eliza, wife of Joseph Jr. had lost her brother Phillip, yet she was left at home alone with four small children when her husband was conscripted by the Federal Government. Even using caution, it was easy to offend by a slip of the tongue. On one occasion, a group of the neighborhood ladies were at a quilting in one of the family homes, when near havoc almost resulted from a statement uttered by Daniel's wife. He had enlisted early in the war and was away serving with the Union forces, so she had every reason to wish an early end to the hostilities so that her husband could come home. In the course of conversation about the events of the day, she uttered that "she wished the earth would open up and swallow the secesh". Needless to say, she was taken to task immediately by the women who felt differently - and for a short time the Civil War was almost brought into the room. Such were events and feelings of the day along the Dry Fork.

As with other aspects of events and happenings that surrounded the lives of Joseph and Margaret Crider, as well as others of their generation, there is no known reason why in 1870 they decided to remove themselves from the Gasconade County area and relocate in Webster County, Missouri. During the early years of the war, several of the Hendrix families, consisting for the most part of women and children, had been forced to flee from that area to escape the trials and havoc of war. Margaret's nephews, Phillip and Tom Hendrix, somehow had conflict with certain of the military forces - or perhaps someone in what was termed "gorilla units". As a result, the families had received extreme persecution due to their strong sympathy for the Southern cause. After the Hendrix boys joined Confederate units and left the area, the women and children had to leave also. Most of them had relatives in Gasconade County. One of these was Drusey Hendrix and her family. She was a daughter of Joseph Crider Sr., by his marriage to Priscilla Reed. Mary (Durbin) Hendrix, widow of Samuel and sister-in-law of Margaret Crider. Mary M. Hendrix, the wife of Thomas Hendrix, and family also left the area. After the war was over, some decided to return to Webster County and try to rebuild their homes.

No doubt this factor of others migrating is what prompted Joseph and Margaret Crider to move to Webster County late in 1870, after the census of that yearwas taken. This migration began for the most part in 1869 and by late 1870 Joseph and Margaret had decided to join the movement. Other sympathizers who moved were: Mary (Durbin) Hendrix, sister-in-law of Margaret by her first marriage to Edward Durbin; John Durbin, brother-in-law of Margaret, and his wife Isabelle (Crider) Durbin and family; Christopher and Conrad Durbin, children of Margaret by her first marriage, and their families; Thomas Shockley, who had married Sarah "Sally", daughter of Margaret, and their family. By this time Joseph was nearing the age of seventy years. From a photo taken at Springfield soon after their arrival in Webster County, he appears to have been a well preserved man. Yet it is apparent that his older age did not warrant any major farming operations. They did, however, acquire a forty acre tract in Union Township of Webster County. It is described in records as: S.E. Qr. of the S.E. Qr. of Sec. 28, Twsp. 32, R. 17 W. As far as it is known, they spent the remainder of their lives there.

After living there about four years, Joseph Crider died sometime in November of 1874, aged seventy-three years. As to the exact place of his burial, one must again speculate, due to the absence of any marker that would offer absolute proof. A close study of the neighborhood and families of the day would seem to indicate the likelihood that his wife Margaret had him buried within a plot on the farm of her brother and his wife. According to tradition, when Margaret's brother Samuel Hendrix died in 1860, in Webster County, he was buried in a private plot - probably on his old farm located in Sec. 2, R. 18 W. After the Civil War, when his widow Mary "Molly" Hendrix returned to Webster County from Gasconade County, she located on a 160 tract near the Laclede County line. This was probably land that she had purchased earlier than or about the time her husband died. Being a very religious woman, she set aside a small area in the corner of this tract for church and cemetery purposes. It is also stated by way of family information, that she had the body of her deceased husband removed from the first place of burial and re-interred at the new cemetery site. Narrators tell us that he was originally buried in a coffin made of cherry wood, and that although several years had passed, it was still in a good state of preservation when exhumed and that re-burial was accomplished without complications. In 1872, Mary "Molly" Hendrix died and was buried by the side of her husband. A third grave by the side of theirs would seem to be that of Joseph Crider - although neither grave has markers that would offer identification. Some of Joseph Crider's great-grandchildren living in the area hold to the theory that this third grave is that of their great grandfather, Joseph Crider, while others disclaim this theory, believing the grave to be that of someone else.

According to the history of the Sacred Heart Church at Conway, Missouri, the location that had been selected for Church and Cemetery purposes, and where Samuel Hendrix and his wife were buried, was found to be undesirable - due to very shallow soil over rock, which made opening of graves a very difficult task. So it was decided to find a new location. This was selected about one mile to the southwest, in the northeast corner of section 29 which is in a diagonal direction across the southwest quarter of section 21, where the original site was located.

This cemetery, shown on topographical maps as the Reed cemetery, first came to use in June of 1876, when the first burial was made there. Margaret Crider, widow of Joseph died in 1879, and was buried in the Reed Cemetery. Her grave-marker gives her date of birth as 1812, with the inscription. "Margaret Wife Of Joseph Crider"- There is a space reserved by her side that was never used. According to descendants, the original intention of some of Joseph's children, was to have his body exhumed and re-buried by the side of his wife, but this was never accomplished. It is also thought that some of the children of his first marriage, at one time planned to have his body exhumed and returned to Gasconade County to be buried by the side of his first wife in Crider Cemetery. There was no follow-up of this plan, the result being that since his death Joseph Crider Sr. has been buried in an unmarked grave, in a somewhat secluded area, that relatively few of his descendants know about or have visited. In order that the memory of this ancestor of so many descendants will be preserved and not lost to oblivion, we then dedicate this section in a very special way to:

John Walter m. Mary A. Steen, they had 2 daughters Sarah Elizabeth and Margretta Walter. I descend through Sarah Elizabeth Walter and her husband Mons Randolph Matthews. / I don't know what you have on this family, but I can add everything up to present day members. Sarah is buried in Liberty Cemetery, but my family does not know where John is buried. I have pictures of various headstones in Liberty Cemetery. Also I will be visiting Vienna in hopes to get more information on the Paydown Mill and Peter Walter's ties to it.
